THE 2 A.M. RELAPSE PROTOCOL

Read top to bottom. Do each step before the next. Do not skip to the phone.

1. 0:00 — Phone face-down, other room. Physically move it. You can't win a fight you keep in your hand.
2. 0:01 — Say it out loud: "This is chemistry, not information." Withdrawal feels like truth. It isn't.
3. 0:02 — Cold water on face and wrists, 60 seconds. Then 20 slow breaths, four counts in, six out.
4. 0:05 — Notebook, four lines: Feeling / Thought / What I'd text / What a man I respect does instead.
5. 0:10 — Text your accountability man (Script 54), not her. If he's asleep, the message still counts.
6. 0:12 — Move: 50 push-ups or a 10-minute walk outside. Thought follows action.
7. 0:25 — Decide one thing for tomorrow and write it down: the session, the mission block, the call you'll make.
8. 0:30 — Sleep. No decision made after 9 p.m. is a decision. Re-read this at 7 a.m. if you still want to send it. You won't.

IF YOU ALREADY SENT IT

Script 57 in the morning. Then day 1 again. One message doesn't undo thirty days of work — but a second one starts to.
